Family run 17th century coaching inn set at the foot of the Howgill Fells, in the Cumbrian town of Sedbergh.

‘Inspired by the landscape, The Black Bull is a unique destination in which to relax, indulge and tune-out. In the Yorkshire Dales, on the doorstep of the Lake District and right in the heart of Britain’s most stunning countryside’

We focus on the quality of our produce to create the best British, European and Asian inspired dishes.

We serve innovative, seasonal 'field to fork' and 'nose to tail' locally sourced food.

All our rooms are as individual as the local fell tops they're named after. Each carefully designed to emphasise its own unique character.

Our rooms offer comfort and luxury. They are dressed with Herdwick carpet, hand weaved blankets, natural soaps and many other locally sourced materials.

Due to the age, and shape of the building each room is unique with some offering balcony views, suites, roll-top baths, rain showers and one even a Japanese tub. All our rooms however offer Super King size quality mattresses, independent Coffee and Tea and modern facilities.

We serve a range of locally produced drinks alongside independent and international brands.

Our bar is the place to relax in and enjoy with friends throughout the day. Serving quality drinks, with taste in mind. Plush furnishings, two comforting log burners and a well stocked bar make this the ideal space for coffee, and the paper, a well earned pint after a walk with your dog, cocktails before dinner or simply catching up with friends.
